

Yes, you can go.
They're an Eagle House.

One of St. Thomas High School's compelling strengths is that it draws students from 125 Houston zip codes. The flip side to that is that parents cannot possibly know their sons' friends' families like they could in many middle schools.

We need ways to connect with each other around shared information and shared values. Eagle House can be that connection. By publishing a list of member families on a password-protected school website, Eagle House can give you more confidence in saying yes or no when your son asks to visit a classmate's home.

When your family becomes an Eagle House, you say to the community, "We are authentically committed to the 116-year-old mission of St. Thomas High School — Teach me goodness, discipline and knowledge. And we put the safety of our son and yours above everything else."

For information on becoming an Eagle House, contact STH Choices Counselor Patrick Hagler at Patrick.Hagler@sths.org.
