The Activities Office is implementing creative approaches to capture the essence of the in-person STH student experience.

Student Council and STH Clubs will be using all available technological resources to meet, plan and deliver a myriad of social opportunities. Our goal is to offer every student the chance to extend learning in ways that support their academic interests, develop their leadership skills, engage new friends, explore their talents, participate in exciting contests and tournaments, diversify their social skills, and have fun. All students are encouraged to participate whenever an opportunity presents itself.

The challenges of this pandemic have also exponentially compounded the needs of our local and global community, intensifying a call to action that our student body will safely and responsibly continue to answer. The Service Team has cultivated meaningful relationships with many local charitable organizations, who themselves have adapted their needs to the limitations of social distancing. Please visit our webpage for all the latest information on service options and instructions.

More than ever, the sense of altruism that defines the STH student experience will continue to grow, regardless of remote, hybrid, or campus-based learning.

Sincerely,

Joe O'Brien
